HUSTONVILLE.

We wish to congratulate your people so far for the escape they have made from small-pox.

The creeks here went past the danger line, and several colored families had to vacate their homes in the suburbs of Riffle Town.

J. B. Roy Rose, who represents Buehnel, Ullman & Co., of Chicago, clothing house, has been called to that city by the firm to take a more lucrative position with the same house. They want him to travel for them and his territory to be Kentucky and Tennessee. J. Walker Pinkerton will have charge of Roy's sample room and goods while he is away. We certainly wish them both well. D. S. Carpenter, one of our prominent business men, has been confined to his bed for a week with grip. During the serious illness of H. R. Camnitz, P. M., his daughter, Miss Edna, has had almost entire control of the office, and I only repeat the sentiments of the entire community, when I say she has filled the place most creditably. Mr. C. is and has been in bed for six weeks.

Miss Frances Adams, who has been visiting Miss Annie Evans Bright at Hubble, has returned, and brought with her guest, Miss Bright. Messrs. Frank Robinson and George Dunn, of Danville, accompanied them. F. B. Monnett, of Norwalk, O., is here on business. James B. Cook has been suffering with an attack of grip. Ben Taylor, a full-figured railroader of Pittsburgh, spent several days with his parents. Miss Mabel Taylor came home with him. Miss Camille Hopper, a pupil of Glendale Female College, has been home for two weeks on account of sickness. She hopes to return in a few days. John H. Dillon, Jr., of Covington, has been visiting Howard Camnitz and Val B. Murse. Mr. Dillon came home with Miss Edna Camnitz, who has been with Louise Culbertson. Miss Camnitz was called home on account of the illness of her father.

C. H. Williams, of Georgetown, was here one day last week. This gentleman is the prime mover in wanting to build the electric railway from Moreland to Liberty. He comes highly recommended as a gentleman and a thorough business man in every particular. He was here looking over the ground and is very enthusiastic on the subject. He has had a great deal of experience in this same business for several years and from his conversation he is certainly acquainted with every bog path and wild cat track of Kentucky and Tennessee. This road should and does mean a whole lot in our citizens, and the town seems anxious to take hold and seize something to rejuvenate the entire place. And why not? I noticed in your last issue a good letter from your Moreland correspondent with one exception and that is where he gives our new road a kick, but it is only "pour grapes" with him and his citizens. Whenever Hustonville says she is going to do a thing, she is pretty apt to do it and always in good style. So Moreland just take your dose and say nothing, for the road is ours. Several of our capitalists and leaders have gone to the home of Mr. Williams to confer with that gentleman and perfect arrangements. These men are Dr. Ed. Aleern, Messrs. Jess Riffe, Waller C. Treening and James Frye. Now when that body of boddle and brains start after as good a thing as an electric railway, you will be bound to hear something drop. I will try and keep Moreland posted as to the rapid progress of said road.

CHURCHES AND PREACHERS.

Richard W. Jones, a former Baptist minister, was given three years by a jury at Elizabethtown for bigamy.

Rev. H. B. Matheny asks us to say that he will be on hand at the Preaching church Saturday and Sunday at the usual hours.

The Louisville Ministerial Association refused to admit to membership the pastors of the Unitarian and the Reformed Bobrow Churches.

Rev. E. Edwards, pastor of the English Baptist Church at Mincersville, Pa., when suffering with rheumatism, was advised to try Chamberlain's Palm Balm. He says: "A few applications of this liniment proved of great service to me. It subdued the inflammation and relieved the pain. Should any sufferer profit by giving Palm Balm & trial it will please me." For sale by Craig & Hocker, Druggists.

The 8th Immune Negro regiment, mustered out at Chickamauga, fired from the car windows at Chattanooga, wounding a number of citizens and doing other damage. Their behavior was almost as bad as that of the 4th Ky.

THAT THROBBING HEADACHE.

Would quickly leave you, if you used Dr. King's New Life Pills. Thousands of sufferers have proved their matchless merit for sick and Nervous Headaches. They make pure blood and strong nerves and build up your health. Easy to take. Try them. Only 25 cents. Money back if not cured. Sold by Penny's Drug Store.

HON. M. F. NORTH ADDRESSES THE DEMOCRATS OF LINCOLN.

Being a candidate for the democratic nomination for representative in the next Legislature, and having represented the county of Lincoln in the last General Assembly, I feel it my duty to give to you a short history of my efforts while serving you in that capacity, and furthermore, to outline, in a certain degree, the course I shall expect to pursue if again elected to that office, and to give to you my position upon certain questions with which I will have to deal, if elected.

It is my intention to make a number of speeches in county, but owing to the fact that small-pox has made its appearance in our county, many of our citizens will perhaps for some time avoid crowds and public places. I have, therefore, decided to use the columns of our very excellent county paper to reach them.

In asking the democrats of my county to endorse me by again making me the nominee of my party, and the people of my county to again elect me to the very important and responsible office of representative, I am not unmindful of the honor heretofore conferred upon me, for which I now desire to return to them my sincere thanks.

Desiring to make this article as concise as I can consistent with its purposes, I will at once proceed to give you an account of the various bills and resolutions introduced by myself in the last Legislature and leave to you to judge of their respective merits.

Resolution No. 1, to amend the State Constitution by providing for a "Board of Pardons" to pass upon all applications for pardons and commutations.

Resolution No. 2, to amend the State Constitution by abolishing the "Bureau of Agriculture, Labor and Statistics." There is an annual appropriation of $13,000 made for this bureau, and as far as I have been able to ascertain it has never been worth 13 cents to the people of Kentucky.

H. B. No. 17, to amend the common school law so as to conform to the provisions of the State Constitution in regard to the appointment of trustees to fill vacancies.

H. B. No. 18, an act to make it a felony to sell, or offer for sale, the flesh of an animal dying otherwise than by slaughter, or known to be diseased when slaughtered.

H. B. No. 19, to allow examining courts $2 per day in lieu of $2 in each felony case.

H. B. No. 20, to amend the law in regard to special circuit court judges so as to make their per diem $6 in lieu of $8, and to be deducted in certain cases from the salary of the regular judge. This bill passed the House but failed in the Senate.

H. B. No. 21, to allow sheriffs for conveying prisoners 10 cents per mile in lieu of 20 cents, as now provided by Statute. This bill passed the House but failed in the Senate.

H. B. No. 22, an act to prohibit the marriage of first-cousins. This act passed the House, but failed in the Senate.

H. B. No. 23, to make it a felony to set fire, intentionally, to the woods, fence, &c.

H. B. No. 24, an act to abolish the State Board of Equalization.

H. B. No. 25, an act to abolish the office of register of the land office and consolidate with that of auditor of public accounts. This bill became a law and will save to the taxpayers of this State $1,000 annually.

H. B. 26, to require fish roads to be built over dams in certain streams to allow the passage of fish. I introduced this bill for the special benefit of people living on Fishing and Buck Creeks in this county. It passed the House, but failed in the Senate.

H. B. 102, to repeal the "guard section" of the law known as the "Martin Mob Law." This bill passed both the House and Senate, was vetoed by the Governor, passed the House over his veto, but failed by about two votes to pass over his veto in the Senate.

H. B. 103, to repeal an act excluding Crab Orchard Springs from the town of Crab Orchard. This bill became a law.

H. B. 104, to prohibit stock from running at large within school house enclosures.

H. B. 105, to make the amount of appeal from circuit court in certain character of cases $200 instead of $100. This bill became a law.

H. B. 106, to amend the law in regard to granting law license.

H. B. 202, to abolish the office of assistant sergeant at arms, tipstaff and janitor of the court of appeals.

H. B. 203, to abolish the office of assistant adjutant general.

H. B. 209, to appropriate $500 to protect the graves of Confederate soldiers slain at Perryville. This bill became a law.

In addition to the foregoing bills and resolutions introduced by myself, I supported heartily the bill introduced by Mr. Chinn, the member from Mercer, known as the China Hook Bill. I supported the anti-trust bill introduced by the member from Hawling Green, Mr. Bradburn.

I supported the salary reduction bill introduced by Mr. Weatherford, the member from Graves county.

I opposed and defeated a bill from the Senate appropriating $12,000 to the commissioners who superintended the building of the Eddyville penitentiary more than 12 years ago. The act appointing these commissioners expressly provided that they were not to receive pay for their services over and above their actual expenses, and I point with pride to the fact that I was the main instrument in saving the tax-payers of the State in this one instance the very considerable sum of $12,000.

Having submitted to you some of the things that I did and tried to do while acting as your servant, I now feel it my duty to give you my position upon certain questions that will come before the next Legislature.

I am in favor of the passage of a law such as was proposed by the Chinn Hook Bill, that proposed to give to the children of the State of Kentucky school books at least one-third less than they now cost.

I am in favor of the enactment of a law similar to that proposed by the Bradburn bill, to prevent the formation of trusts.

I am in favor of a reduction of the salaries of the State officers.

I am in favor of the election of U. S. Senators by the popular vote of the people. I elected I will vote for the nominee of the democratic cause for U. S. Senator, whomsoever he may be.

It is well-known to the people of my county that I was not a candidate for representative before the convention that gave me the nomination before, but that the nomination was tendered me by a unanimous vote of the convention.

With an excellent ticket equitably distributed over the county and a united party, we won.

I gave to my constituency and to the people of my State 60 days of honest work. I made a faithful effort to procure the passage of such laws as would in my judgment redound to the interest of my people and reduce the burden of taxation with which they are now oppressed. I recorded my votes in every instance in what I conceived to be the interest of the people.

With the experience obtained from a term served in the Legislature and the acquaintances formed with the members, many of whom will be returned, I feel that I will be still better prepared to represent the people another term.

The acts of the last Legislature will be made the main issues of the next State campaign and I feel that I am amply able to defend them.

If nominated I will do all in my power to carry the party's banner to victory, and if elected will serve the interest of the whole people to the best of my ability. Respectfully,

M. F. NORTH.

SPAIN'S GREATEST NEED.

Mr. R. P. Oliva, of Barcelona, Spain, spends his winter at Aiken, S. C. Weak nerves had caused severe pains in the back of his head. On using Electric Bitters, America's greatest Blood and Nerve Remedy, all pain was left him. He says this grand medicine is what his country needs. All America knows that it cures liver and kidney trouble, purifies the blood, tones up the stomach, strengthens the nerves, puts skin, vigor and new life into every muscle, nerve, vein, organ and bone. It cures all ills, including you need it. Every bottle guarantees only 50 cents. Sold by Penny's Drug Store.

Gov. Bradley pardoned Jno. B. Ramsey, of Winchester, under a two-year sentence for forgery, aggregating $15,000, and the parole was granted on the ground that his incarceration in the penitentiary, on account of physical infirmities, would kill him. Ramsey's wife mortgaged all of her separate estate and paid off his forged paper.

CHAMBERLAIN'S COUGH REMEDY.

This remedy is intended especially for coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough and influenza. It has become famous for its cures of these diseases, over a large part of the civilized world. The most flattering testimonials have been received, giving accounts of its good works; of the aggravating and persistent coughs it has cured; of severe colds that have yielded promptly to its soothing effects, and of the dangerous attacks of croup it has cured, often saving the life of the child. The extensive use of it for whooping cough has shown that it robs that disease of all dangerous consequences. Sold by Craig & Hocker, Druggists.

H. B. 104, to prohibit stock from running at large within school house enclosures.

H. B. 105, to make the amount of appeal from circuit court in certain character of cases $200 instead of $100. This bill became a law.

H. B. 106, to amend the law in regard to granting law license.

H. B. 202, to abolish the office of assistant sergeant at arms, tipstaff and janitor of the court of appeals.

H. B. 203, to abolish the office of assistant adjutant general.

H. B. 209, to appropriate $500 to protect the graves of Confederate sol-

MIDDLEBURG.

The mercury was 3 degrees below zero Tuesday.

Mr. Clinton Durham a prominent young school teacher of this county, died at his home near Mt. Olivet Sunday, after only a week's illness of influenza and pneumonia.

Green River was higher Saturday night than it has been since '90. Much damage was done to farmers both by washing and carrying away of fence. The "suspension" bridge, which gained great notoriety in the dailies some two years back, was taken away, much to the regret of the pedestrians of both of Middleburg and Yosemita.

Thomas Vickery, formerly of Somerset, attempted suicide in his room at the Yosemita Hotel, Yosemita, Friday, the weapon used being a pocket knife which he sliced across his throat and which made an ugly wound. It is believed his mind had suddenly become unbalanced, but for what cause we are unable to tell. Vickery is a widower of about 50 years and is a brother-in-law of J. T. Short, proprietor of the Yosemita Hotel. He was taken to Lake Land Asylum Saturday by Sheriff Brown.

J. H. Passmore, formerly a distiller of this county and a candidate for the republican nomination for county judge in '94, died Thursday night at the home of a friend, of spasms. He had taken a load of hickory to McKinney that day and retired that night apparently in the best of health. The members of the house in which he was staying were awakened by a strange noise during the night. He died in a few minutes. Saturday the body was taken to the grave for interment but on opening the coffin had a perspiration covered his face and the body was taken back but was interred Sunday.

CLARENCE COLEMAN.

DANVILLE.

Mike Shepherd, the brick mason, and an old citizen of Danville, died of dropsy, after a protracted illness.

Mrs. Margaret Robinson sold her residence on Harrodsburg Avenue to W. T. Henry, of Rowan, Tenn., for $1,250.

The city council has put the stock sales further out, confining them to First street between Walnut and Broadway and to Main street east of First.

According to the report made by County Treasurer Frank Lee, Boyle county last year paid out $1,945 for guarding the toll gate against raiders.

Mr. J. Thornton Meyer, son of Dr. J. M. Meyer, and Miss Dora Van Arsdall, daughter of Mrs. Merrick Van Arsdall, were quietly married at the home of the bride's mother Wednesday.

In the fiscal court R. S. Nichols was chosen county treasurer to succeed Frank N. Lee. Claims for working county roads to the amount of $5,228.65 were allowed, and L. A. Martin, keeper of the poor house, was allowed $674.

—Advocate.

NEWS OF THE VICINAGE.

Less than 15 cattle were on the Harrodsburg market Monday.

The home of John Bosse, at Altamont, was totally consumed by fire.

Dan Carr was severely burned by an explosion in Davis' coal mine in Whitley.

It is all a canard about Lee Turner, of Middlesboro, being dead. He turned up safe and sound.

Hiram Kilby, a furrier, was found dead on a road near Richmond. He had been to the city attending court and it is supposed he froze.

A dispatch from Corbin says that P. M. Smith, assistant postmaster at this place, left there very unexpectedly for Virginia, taking his family with him. His books are being examined for discrepancies.

Gen. Cassius M. Clay telegraphed to Senator Lindsay to procure him protection by the Federal government from a vendetta that has for years been threatening his life. The dispatch shows plainly that the once stalwart mind is gone.

A dispatch from London says that John Smallwood, living on Goose Creek, Clay county, while serving on a jury at Manchester, received the sad intelligence that a landslide had destroyed his little mountain home, killing three of his family and seriously wounding the other two.

THE FOREMOST COUNTRY PAPER.—

The INTERIOR JOURNAL was 27 years old last Friday. Having read it ever since 1877 with more regularity and greater interest and profit than any other paper published in America, Europe, Africa, India, Oceania, or Australia, we celebrate its recurring anniversaries with a pride almost of ownership. May it continue the foremost country paper of the State, wielding an influence for good that will endure long after the hand that guides it has laid down the pen that has been so long the envy and admiration of the press and public of this and other States.—Richmond Climax.

THE INTERIOR JOURNAL

STANFORD, KY., - MAR. 10, 1899

W. P. WALTON.

SENATOR GOEBEL warmed up to the work at Hartford Monday and went for his tradesmen like a thousand of brick. He read an article from the Elizabethtown News which supports Hardin, acquitting him of the felonious charge of any sort of connection with the Courier Journal and asserting himself the absolute falsity of the charge as shown by his record. Of the charge that he investigated the suit for a receiver for the Dispatch, he entered a most complete denial, adding that he could not have had any connection with such a legal abortion as the suit evidently is, as he can prove by the L. & N. attorneys that he does know how to bring a suit. The concentration of mendacity was found, he said. In the Dispatch's charge that he had supported Blackburn for Senator with a thorough understanding with the Haldemanns, as a preliminary step to his candidacy for the gubernatorial nomination and while not desiring to appear extravagant in language he would say, meaning exactly what he said, that "the author of that accusation, no matter who he is, is a liar and a scoundrel." He then by implication charged that Gen. Hardin was the candidate of the L. & N., because it is a well-known fact that Gen. Basil Duke, its chief lobbyist and James F. Helm, one of its leading attorneys, are his closest friends. As against any of the accusations made against him, the Senator said he had as much right to say that Gen. Hardin inspired and procured the sending out of the anonymous literature, because Harvey Myers, of Covington, who is at the head of the distribution, is a personal and political friend of the general. Richard W. Knott, editor of the Post, is a brother of Sture R. Knott, vice-president of the L. & N. and an ardent supporter of Hardin; John H. Whallen is one of the road's political agents, and Gen. Duke led the procession of railroad men in 1890, who were driven like a lot of slaves by the L. & N., to vote for McKinley and all these support Hardin and "I have as much right to charge that he is the L. & N.'s candidate as has any man to make accusations against me." These, and other personal matters shall not, however, the Senator declared, obscure the issues of the campaign and then he launched into a discussion of the election law, the McChord and Chinn bills, for all of which he stood and upon which he intended that his opponents should stand or state to the contrary. The speech was hot stuff from start to finish and although the mercury was toying with the zero mark it warmed his 300 hearers to high enthusiasm.

THE democratic State central and executive committees met in Lexington Wednesday and decided on June the 21st as the day and Louisville as the place for holding the State convention to nominate candidates for State offices. A large crowd was present and great interest was manifested. It is said that the Hardin men wanted an earlier date, but Goebel seemed to have had things his own way. Ollie James was elected to succeed the Senator as committee-man from the State at large. The delegates to the State convention will be chosen by county and legislative mass meetings June 17. The representation will be one for every 200 votes cast for Bryan and all known democrats, who supported Bryan and those who pledge themselves to support the nominees are entitled to participate in the conventions. There was no disposition to discriminate against gold democrats, but a general desire to extend the olive branch. The meeting was harmonious and the results seem to be satisfactory.

DOWN IN HART COUNTY a preacher seduced one of his flock and when his sin was about to find him out, paid a man to perform a criminal operation upon her, the man claiming that he could not do so without danger. The woman died and both were arrested for murder and on separate trials they are now serving. The case is not dissimilar to that of Wilson, who by the very act of allowing him bail, the court says is not guilty of a capital offense, which is punishable either by life imprisonment or death. Truly doctors of the law as well as doctors of medicine disagree.

THE Cincinnati Enquirer says about the talk about him for secretary of war, that there is a suspicion abroad that Gen. Wheeler has already one leg in the republican party and the Louisville Courier Journal says that Speaker Reed came near landing in the democratic party before Congress adjourned. The latter party will be willing to the swap and give boot, though the little general deserves well of his country. The trouble with him is that he is not able to withstand the blandishments and flattery of a republican president, but we suspect he means well.

WHEN Mr. Watterson describes the 55th Congress as an omnium gatherum of incapacity, is Davison the smallest in his mind's eye?

A SENSATIONAL encounter between Jack Chin and Senator Charles J. Bronston occurred in the Phoenix Hotel, Lexington, Wednesday, when the former's bluff was promptly called by the latter. Chin asked him if he was armed and on receiving a negative reply told him to go and arm himself. Bronston replied that he would in less than 10 minutes. "You are a d—n thief," said Chin. "You are a d—n huffer and coward" responded Bronston. Senator Goebel, who is a small man, led the big Mercer county man away and Bronston went for a gun. Returning to the hotel, he found that Chin had been taken to his room and a policeman took Bronston away. Chin was afterwards put under bond of $5,000 to keep the peace and left for his home shortly afterwards. The trouble came up over a lawsuit, in which Chin claimed that Bronston had accused Chin's wife of conspiring to rob and defraud. It seems that one Crawford, who died in Florida, had a gambling house that he deeded to Chin on his death bed to sell for the benefit of Crawford's wife and also gave him a diamond ring to ruffle her, for which he got $700 or $800. Chin never gave her the money for either, it is alleged, and after getting judgment Bronston had some money attached, which he alleged was for horses sold in the name of Mrs. Chin, with fraudulent intent.

WHILE discussing their marriage, which was to occur in a few days, A. J. Conner said to his sweetheart at Martinsburg, W. Va., as he pulled out a revolver: "If you go back on me I'll show you what I'll do." As he turned the weapon to his breast, it went off and he went with it, thus reducing the number of fools by one.

WE confess that we do not feel near as kindly towards Gen. Miles since learning that it was he who had manacled himself on Jefferson Davis, while he was a prisoner at Fort Monroe. He claims, however, that he was simply obeying orders from Assistant Secretary of War C. A. Dana.

DEHOE says that the republicans will win in Kentucky this year because prosperity has come. It has come to him at least. His salary now is fully 10 times as much as it was before his whereabouts was discovered.

IN its weekly report, closing March 6, the Ohio State board of health says that out of the 1,041 cases of small-pox reported to it, nine deaths have occurred. This rate makes the disease even less fatal than chicken-pox.

EAGAN, the blackguard, is going to Hawaii to spend some of the money he gets for being a disgrace to the army, and will leave in a few days. If he never come back there will no tears be shed.

POLITICS AND POLITICIANS.

China has apologized to Italy for the insult to her minister.

It is estimated that the Outage bill will save distillers about $3,000,000.

Kentucky will be entitled to three of the 101 second lieutenants provided for by the new army bill.

The president believes a regular army of 65,000 is sufficient and will not call for the 35,000 volunteers.

Out of 838 post-office nominations sent to the Senate during the last session, 14 were not confirmed.

The third district railroad committee selected Winchester for holding the convention and fixed April 26, as the date.

It is said that the administration is hunting for a man with which to beat feed for speaker, but it is safe to say it won't find him.

Samuel J. Barrows has written a letter to President McKinley declining a second tender of the office of Librarian of Congress.

The Glasgow News says that Judge Breckinridge is a happy, graceful and fluent speaker, and made a splendid impression on those who heard him.

There are 1,710,555 Negro voters in America. It can be safely estimated that 2,000,000 of these will vote the republican ticket in 1890.—Glasgow Times.

The Williamsburg Times says that 18 prominent republicans have been subpoenaed in that county by John D. White to prove that Boreing used money to defeat him.

All the republican members and ex-members of the Kentucky congressional delegation have decided to endorse the Hon. Brutus J. Clay for the Paris commissionership.

It is said that railroad men from all over the State will meet in Louisville March 19, to prepare plans to fight any candidate for governor who is in favor of the McChord railroad bill.

The democratic county committee has ordered precinct conventions held on the first day of April for the purpose of choosing a nominee for representative from Boyle county.

John B. Thompson said to a Louisville reporter: I can truthfully say that every indication points to the nomination of the Hon. Parker Wat Hardin for governor by the democratic party in Kentucky. In my opinion, and this opinion is based upon actual facts, Gen. Hardin practically has his race won.

Judge M. L. Hayward was elected U. S. Senator by the Nebraska republican Legislature.

The president has decided to go to Thomasville, Ga., as the guest of Senator Hanna, for a brief rest.

Great Britain has warned China that a repudiation of the railroad contract will be regarded as a breach of faith.

It comes via Frankfort that the much advertised peace conference of the republicans has been declared off, the Hunter-Taylor element not desiring it.

Gov. Roosevelt has raised a row among the republicans by giving Chas. S. Fairchild, one of Cleveland's secretaries of the treasury, a lucrative office.

This from Editor L. E. Casey, of the Covington Commonwealth, seems significant: Editor Walton, of the INTERIOR JOURNAL, always just, conservative and courageous, sees things as they really are and is not to be enjoined or bullied into anything that his conscience does not approve. He is a sterling democrat and a man of experience, and his views are always respectfully considered, even by those who are of opposite opinion. It would be well for violent partisans in the democratic party to take heed of the last three lines of an article copied in this impression of the Commonwealth—"Democrats haven't got everything in a sling in Kentucky now and conservatism must prevail."

THE Boyle county fiscal court did not fix the levy Wednesday, but adjourned till April in order to get more data as to the amount required.

THE Lancaster Record thinks there is a good chance of securing an extension of the Southern via its route to Middlesboro. We hope so and believe so since John Furia has the thing in hand.

BEN LEWIS asks us to correct the mistake we made in our last. It was his brother, Will, who was fighting with John Smith, when Gendim Nelson was killed and not Ben, as our types made us say.

THE small-pox, but who said small-pox? Even Mr. Sowder denies that he has it and threatens to sue the town for heavy damages for isolating him. There are no new cases here, but Dr. W. J. Edmiston claims that he has four in the country. The expense of the disease is about $15 a day to the town and county. Dr. Hall gets $10 and the Negro nurse $2.50 a day for Sowder, while Dr. Edmiston gets $15 a day for the cases he has and if more appear he can charge up to $25 a day, all of which is pretty tough on the tax-payers as well as the victims.

DEATH.—Miss Wade Lee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Thompson, of the Preachersville section, died yesterday afternoon after a protracted illness of consumption, aged 21, and will be buried at the Dave Anderson burying ground this afternoon. She was a beautiful Christian woman and during her illness seldom murmured, although her suffering at times was great. She celebrated her birthday a few days ago, when a number of her friends gathered around her bedside and presented her with tokens of their love for her. Much sympathy is felt for the bereaved parents.

FON OF ORANGES.—Some scamp broke Beazley & Carter's display window last night and got all the oranges and lemons he could catch, about a box full, which were put in the window yesterday. It was a pretty bold piece of business, but we will wager that our next issue will tell that the thief is in jail.

GOOCH.—Walter Gooch, son of Hunley Gooch, whose severe accident was told of in our last, died at his home near Waynesburg and was buried at Ebanks Wednesday. His skull was evidently crushed by striking the limb of the tree under which his horse went when he ran away. Mr. Gooch was 22 years of age and stood well in his community.

WE have always entertained a high regard for Editor Landram, of the Lancaster Record, but our faith is shaken in him and we must in future give him the shake. WILSON ALLOWED BAIL.

JUDGE SAUFLEY SAYS HE IS NOT GUILTY OF A CAPITAL OFFENSE

EVEN ADMITTING THE HORRIBLE ACTS CHARGED.

The trial of lawyer E. K. Wilson for bail began at 2 P. M. Tuesday. He is charged with having murdered Miss Mary Cloyd, of London, by committing an abortion on her. His attorneys, Hon. W. W. Dickerson, of Williamstown, J. A. Craft, of Louisville, W. F. French, of Richmond, D. K. Rawlings, of London, and W. G. Welch, of Stanford, were not in the court room when the case was called and Judge Saufley gave the defendant five minutes to have them there or it would proceed without them. They saved themselves by a minute. The Commonwealth was represented by Messrs. W. R. Ramsey, Ed Parker, C. H. Brock and J. W. Moren, all of London. After the witnesses were sworn and a rule issued, the first move of the defense was to ask for bail on the reading of the indictment, alleging that the offense as described did not constitute murder. In being void of the three necessary constituents to make it so. This was overruled and the defendant was put on the stand.

In response to questions from Col. Welch, Wilson stated that he was not instrumental in death of Miss Cloyd, that he had no malice for her or desire for her death, that he had known her since October, 1898, that he did not know the cause of her death, that he was arrested Jan. 22 at Richmond while en route to London, for her murder and that he made no application for bail before the circuit court. Questioned by Mr. Ramsey, he said that he produced no proof at examining trial, and was not allowed by jailer to consult with his attorneys when he was taken back to London from Stanford, was in court-house twice afterwards in consultation with attorneys, wanted to ask for bail, but several cases were ahead of his and had precedence. Did nothing to produce Miss Cloyd's death; gave her some medicine for a cold and some time in December tried to get some Cotton Root pills from Dr. Kelley as Dr. Foster said they were the proper things to get in cases of a lapse of menstruation. Had been intimate with her during latter part of '98 and up to Nov. '98. Used no instruments, bought a catheter from Dr. Keuntz for my own use; never introduced it or anything else to produce abortion. Wanted the Cotton Root pills because I found she needed them and I was naturally interested in her condition as I considered myself responsible for it. Told her to go anywhere and I would pay her expenses. Never had any but the kindest feelings for her. Don't know that she was a virgin, but think she was.

Mrs. C. J. McLean, wife of the proprietor of the Catching House, where Miss Cloyd was employed as a domestic, testified that she and Wilson, who boarded at the hotel, were sweethearts, that he had her picture in his room in a conspicuous place and called on her from twice a week to once a month, that she came to her room Dec. 29 and said she was very sick and freezing to death, that she gave her a toddy and sent for Dr. Pennington. When he came I went out, did not know what trouble was or would not have let her go in my room. Doctor gave her medicine in capsules. Dr. Ramsey was called on the 31st and found out her condition. She told him she had had a miscarriage. Wilson saw her in parlor and had a catheter and asked her if she knew how to use it. While lying on the floor of the parlor he used the instrument, cutting off a portion and telling her to let it remain till next morning. He told her there was no danger, that he had consulted Dr. Foster. Never had been intimate with any other man but Wilson and he seduced her under promise of marriage.

Dr. R. T. Ramsey deposed that he went to see the girl twice and assisted Dr. Pennington in curetting. In her dying statement she said her last period occurred about Nov. 1. Dec. 25 Wilson bought her 12 tablets. Dec. 29 Wilson saw her in parlor and had a catheter and asked her if she knew how to use it. While lying on the floor of the parlor he used the instrument, cutting off a portion and telling her to let it remain till next morning. He told her there was no danger, that he had consulted Dr. Foster. Never had been intimate with any other man but Wilson and he seduced her under promise of marriage.

IT was now past 11 P. M. and court adjourned till Wednesday morning.

To the surprise of court and spectators, both sides announced on reconvening Wednesday that they were through and that the case was submitted without argument.

In summing up the case Judge Saufley made an elaborate statement of his reasons for granting bail, which unintentionally, of course, was a strong defense for Wilson. He said that when he first heard that proceedings for bail would be instituted before him, he felt indignant, as newspaper reports had made the case one of such enormity, and he felt like declining to sit in it. Instead of the professional abortionist, the proof had disclosed that he was a lover whose consideration for the reputation of the girl, led him to commit an act, which is lacking in the three essentials of murder, malice, willfulness and feloniousness. Abortion committed before the quickening is not an offense under the law and there was at other times a vast difference between one who committed it for sympathy and love and one who did so for money and gain. The indictment was well and properly drawn, but the facts as stated did not constitute murder and he might have granted bail on the original motion, except for the fact that he wished to find out in which attitude defendant appeared. Admitting that he had done as charged, he was not guilty of murder and therefore entitled to bail, which he fixed at $3,500. It was promptly given with Dr. J. M. Wilson, father of the defendant, R. C. Ford, of Middlesboro, and H. T. Riggs, of Williamstown, sureties.

Mr. Wilson left with his father on the noon train for Williamstown, where he says he will spend a week with his mother and then return to London to practice law. He naturally feels pretty sore towards the lawyers, who prosecuted him, one or two of whom his father says are volunteers, and apparently has it in for them.

Cross examined by Col. Welch, Mrs. McLean said she had never had occasion but once to suspect Miss Cloyd, when an outsider told her husband Mr. Wilson had spoken lightly of her. A good deal of amusement was occasioned when the colonel drew out the statement from her that her husband had tried to kill Miss Cloyd and she got mad. She told another girl it got to her. He told Mary: "I will give you my store, worth $1,400, if you won't tell my wife." My husband left and remained till I went after him. I never had any acquaintance with Mr. Wilson, only knowing him by sight, but Col. Welch made her admit that she frequently conversed with him, tho' she indignantly denied that she had been to his room and eaten cakes and candy with him.

After a recess court convened at 7 P. M. when Dr. A. C. Foster was put on the stand. He stated that Wilson told him in December that he thought he had Miss Cloyd in a fix and asked if Cotton Root pills would produce abortion, told him thought they would. He also asked about ergot and then wanted me to give him a prescription to produce abortion, but I refused. Afterwards he came to me and said, "You can get medicine for me and nobody will know it." I again refused. Later in December, he asked me if a soft rubber catheter properly placed and left there would do the work. Said he wanted one to use on Miss Cloyd and told me later that he had used it and that it had worked all right. Said he used it during Christmas week. Six or eight months ago he told me he was having a good time with Miss Cloyd. Crossed examined by Col. Welch, Dr. Foster said he was and is a friend of Wilson and that he never heard him say an unkind word of Miss Cloyd. Have used a catheter on Wilson myself for retention of urine.

C. J. McLean testified that Wilson called on Miss Cloyd frequently at his hotel and when he found what was up he asked Wilson what he was going to do about her. Said he was going to marry her and will do whatever she says. Wilson admitted he had used the catheter on her. Col. Welch asked witness about the attempt to kiss Miss Cloyd, when he admitted the charge and produced a picture of the girl, to show that the colonel or any one else would want to kiss her. He showed a very handsome woman. "Because I left home" he added "after trying to kiss her was because I thought it best to be absent till my wife cooled off," which raised a laugh.

Dr. H. V. Pennington stated that when he called to see Miss Cloyd, Dec. 29, her temperature was high and she was nervous. Case looked like blood poison. She refused to be examined, made examination Dec. 31, was satisfied that abortion had been badly performed. Peritonitis caused death. Think criminal operation was performed. Wilson seemed anxious about her and told me he would pay rest of my bill, after she had paid a part. Mrs. McLean and Miss Cloyd both objected to a thorough examination.

Dr. R. T. Ramsey deposed that he went to see the girl twice and assisted Dr. Pennington in curetting. In her dying statement she said her last period occurred about Nov. 1. Dec. 25 Wilson bought her 12 tablets. Dec. 29 Wilson saw her in parlor and had a catheter and asked her if she knew how to use it. While lying on the floor of the parlor he used the instrument, cutting off a portion and telling her to let it remain till next morning. He told her there was no danger, that he had consulted Dr. Foster. Never had been intimate with any other man but Wilson and he seduced her under promise of marriage.

DON'T TUMBLE.—A few mornings ago a guest at the Myers House came down before breakfast and told Mino Host Beazley that a snake had bitten him and that he must have medicine. Mr. Beazley, who doesn't touch a drop, didn't tumble worth a cent, and offered the services of his entire force to go for doctors, &c. "You don't understand me, my friend," remarked the gentleman, "I thought this was a prohibition town and want a drink."
